Let the Experts Help with Current Awareness Service

The amount of information that is available for professional growth can be overwhelming. The academic journals, magazines and other publications to help you remain up to date in your field have varied publishers, formats and publication dates. To help you navigate the mountain of information, the State Library has a service called Current Awareness. This service consists of two aspects that deliver the Table of Contents from specific journals and Topical Selection Alerts.

The Table of Contents (library.ohio.gov/research/cur_aware/toc) service is a selection of journals and magazines, within OhioLINK, of digital publications which can be emailed to you as soon as they are published electronically. Table of Contents selections come with a listing of the contents and a link to the article when applicable. If we do not have immediate digital access to the article, our librarians can Interlibrary Loan (ILL) the article from an institution that holds the publication. You may request articles by contacting us at refhelp@library.ohio.gov.

Topical Selection Alerts are created by the State Library and delivered via e-mail when relevant journal articles are available. These are unique to the state employee from requested specific topics of interest. To receive customized research updates on topics relevant to your work, go to the Topical Selection Alert page (library.ohio.gov/research/cur_aware/topic) of the State Library of Ohio website. Please enter as much information as you think will assist us in setting up your alert. The best results are from searches that are not too broad. We will contact you by phone to clarify your topic and help set up the best possible search.

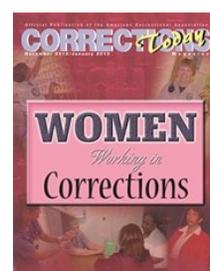

Our librarians are happy to assist you in your professional development, and are here to assist you at any time.

If you have questions, please contact us at 614-644-7051, email refhelp@library.ohio.gov, chat at KnowItKnow (knowitnow.org), or text statelib to 66746.
